IMPORTANT STUFF:

Our kitchen is not a gluten-free restaurant facility. Our kitchen also uses peanuts, walnuts & almonds in a couple of our tamales. While we utilize best cleaning practices to prevent cross-contamination, we need to tell you that there could be a chance of cross-contamination.

If you have other dietary restrictions, we recommend you ask us about other allergens before ordering. Our staff are trained to answer questions about our food and drinks to ensure a positive dining experience.

Making tamales is a very labor intensive process. From beginning to end, making one batch of tamales (about 100 of them) takes us about five hours including an hour of steaming. Due to the fact that tamales are not fast food, sometimes our kitchen will be out of your favorite tamale flavor. We appreciate your understanding and we encourage you to come back another day or try a different flavor available.

Just like tamales, immigrants help make the United States great. We are a business that appreciates and respects the beauty of all people and its cultures, and we recognize that each one of us help make this country better.
